Notes: With the Annual Reports switching from calendar year to academic year or, admissions will also be reported by academic year. Numbers in parentheses are average (undergraduate) GPA. We now also accept applications for Spring start, effective Spring 2024.

The AY 2023-2024 will include students applied for Fall 2023 and, Spring 2024, and enrolled in Fall 2023 or Spring 2024.

The AY 2024-2025 will include students applied for Fall 2024 and Spring 2025, and enroll in Fall 2024 and Spring 2025.

The AY 2022-2023 includes students applied for Fall 2022 and enrolled in Fall 2022 and Spring 2023.

Numbers with * indicate students deferred to the next Spring semester

Numbers with  indicate students deferred to the next Fall semester

MS-MP: MS in Physics – Medical Physics concentration (CAMPEP accredited)

MS-HP: MS in Physics – Health Physics concentration

MS-AP: MS in Physics – Applied Physics concentration

PhD: PhD in Biomedical Physics.

PhD-MP: Integrated PhD in Biomedical Physics and MS in Physics – Medical Physics (CAMPEP) concentration. Both degrees are awarded concurrently.

Remarks: The PhD program in Biomedical Physics is not CAMPEP accredited. However, the program has a concentration “Integrated PhD and MS in Physics – Medical Physics concentration” which allows PhD students to receive both degrees, the PhD in Biomedical Physics and the accredited MS in Physics Medical Physics concentration.

Medical Physics Graduates: Students graduating from the MS-MP and PhD program. Not all graduates from the PhD programs continue directly in the field of Medical Physics.

Table 1. Admissions Records for the Department of Physics

This table is discontinued starting the academic year 2022-2023. The average GPA values are displayed in Table 1a above. GRE is no longer required.

The following table provides detailed average GPA and GRE numbers of all applicants, accepted students, and students starting the individual graduate programs here at ECU. The GPA values refer to undergraduate GPA of the applicants even if the applicant had a Master's degree. The GRE values are given either in the new or the old format, depending on the year. Values are average values for all applicants.

Starting Fall 2021 GRE scores are no longer required for graduate admissions in the Department of Physics. They will therefore no longer reported.
